

The Center for Economic and Policy Research

presents

Finding the Time: Challenges Facing Working Families

sponsored by

Senators Barack Obama, Hillary Clinton, Edward Kennedy and Christopher Dodd Representatives Rosa DeLauro, George Miller and Carolyn Maloney

Friday, June 16
1:00-2:30 pm
512 Senate Hart Building

Dr. Heather Boushey, Senior Economist, Center for Economic and Policy Research, will highlight trends in women's employment over the past twenty-five years.

Ellen Bravo, Former Director, 9to5, National Association of Working Women, and Coordinator, Multi-States Working Families Consortium, will discuss existing and proposed policies to support working families.

This is the first in a series of five briefings exploring challenges facing working families in the United States and discussing policy solutions.

For more information, please contact Liz Chimienti at (202) 293-5380 x110 or chimienti@cepr.net